

Messagepoint Partner Program

Drive greater value for your customers with Messagepoint.

Messagepoint leads the Customer Communications Management (CCM) space with advanced business-user capabilities and intelligent content management. We partner with the industry's leading technology, marketing and print service providers who are experts in document generation, omni-channel customer communications, and customer experiences. Messagepoint's partners provide consulting, implementation, and production expertise to help clients on their Customer Communications Management (CCM) journey.

Empowering our partners for success

We've designed our partner program to ensure your success throughout each stage of the customer engagement. By leveraging your Messagepoint expertise and acknowledging your achievements, we empower you to build meaningful relationships that build a lifetime of customer value.

Messagepoint offers a number of different partnering opportunities.

Channel Partners

Our Channel Partners both resell and refer Messagepoint to enable their customers to deliver optimized customer experiences through optimized communications.

Technology Partners

Messagepoint integrates with a variety of technology solutions to enable organizations to leverage existing investments for composition, email, messaging, and customer management.

Delivery Partners

Delivery Partners provide the services necessary for the successful implementation of Messagepoint. From startup to ongoing touchpoint development and management, these expertly trained and certified partners can help you in all aspects of a Messagepoint project.

Production Partners

Production Partners leverage Messagepoint to deliver services to customers that enable their clients to quickly and easily create, target, and manage their customer-focused communications without involving IT. These partners:

- Create, update, and manage materials for their clients in a managed service model, while still providing proofing and approvals from the client.
- Set up templates and manage print services while enabling clients to self-manage their content and rules.

Vertical or industry experience

Successful partners focus on industries where they can leverage their domain and technology expertise to deliver a compelling value proposition to the market.

Focused go-to-market strategy

A focused sales strategy that aligns with your vertical or industry specialization is a key tenet that successful partners adopt. The strategy should align key partner resources with Messagepoint's sales team.

"We're big fans of Messagepoint. The platform has given us the tools we need to maximize our statement capability, making it much easier to manage the varying communication needs of our clients, and provide them more marketing opportunities. We like the platform so much, we've made the decision to migrate our letter applications over to Messagepoint for all our clients as well."
